OpenLimit Holding AG: CeBIT 2011: RA-MICRO fully integrates long-term storage solution provided by Fujitsu and OpenLimit

Signing of a cooperation agreement relating to the integration of the software solution Fujitsu SecDocs at CeBIT 2011

Hannover, March 2nd, 2011 - Today at the CeBIT trade show, RA-MICRO, Fujitsu and OpenLimit signed the official partnership agreement which coincided with the launch of the live operation of Fujitsu SecDocs. Thanks to the integration of Fujitsu SecDocs into the leading software solution for law firms in Germany, classic paper based file storage systems become obsolete. Going forward, clients of RA-MICRO can reliably and comfortably access digitally stored file originals for years to come and as long as required.

RA-MICRO thus will be the first to offer a BSI-certified solution for long-term storage to their clients. The middleware solution Fujitsu „SecDocs“, which was developed in close cooperation between Fujitsu and OpenLimit, enables tamper-proof and legally binding long-term storage including secure backup of relevant electronic documents at the push of a button. This option will be available by RA-MICRO exclusively to clients in the field of German lawyer's and notary offices.

“The integration of Fujitsu SecDocs will provide RA-MICRO customers with an elegant, economic and reliable storage solution for electronic documents” says Dr. Clemens Pieper, CEO of RA-MICRO. “Once the software has been activated, the user no longer needs to worry about the statutory requirements for secure long-term storage. Due to the BSI certification according to Common Criteria EAL 4+ it is assured that the documents are always available manipulation free and maintaining their full evidentiary value. Thanks to the modern archiving in a local cloud in Germany this is true even after a complete data loss at the law office itself.”
